

Peer Marking: Blog

Name of Blog: Adrian Verrier

Name of marker: Tegan McClelland

	Evidence of minimal/incomplete awareness and engagement Grade: F	Some evidence of awareness, understanding and engagement with concepts, skills, and dispositions Grade: P	Sound evidence of awareness, understanding and engagement with concepts, skills, and dispositions Grade: C	Consistent, comprehensive and wide-ranging evidence of awareness, understanding and engagement with concepts, skills, and dispositions Grade: D	Exemplary awareness, understanding and engagement with concepts, skills, and dispositions, which is generally well above expectations Grade: HD
Content
Content and ideas: Blog entries; teaching episode; written response to peer feedback; creativity and design	Provides an unclear and incoherent response to the tasks. Some content may be missing. No evidence of attention to design.	Response to the tasks is sometimes clear, although it may lack focus in some areas. Design has clarity and some evidence of planning.	Provides a mostly clear and thoughtful response to the question, although it may lack focus in some tasks. Design is reasonably effective and demonstrates some attempts at creativity.	Provides a clear, thoughtful and mostly focused response to the tasks. Design is professional and has some creative elements. Visuals or other media are included.	Provides a coherent, focused and thoughtful response to all tasks. Design is effective, professional and innovative. A range of visuals or other media are well-used.	25/30
Presentation
Organisation and coherence	Lacks overall organisation, thematic unity and coherence in and/or between sentences.	May lack overall organisation, but develops ideas coherently. Sentences may be limited in type or inappropriately connected.	An overall logic and coherence, and a range of sentence types which are usually appropriately connected.	Logically organised, ideas coherent and a range of appropriately connected sentence types.	Logically organised, unity of theme and ideas coherent through a range of appropriately connected sentence types.	8/10
Grammar and accuracy (including spelling and punctuation)	Many grammatical errors and/or use of a limited vocabulary, which may include inappropriate usage. Numerous spelling and/or punctuation errors.	Some grammatical errors and/or use of a limited vocabulary which may include inappropriate usage. Several spelling and/or punctuation errors.	Some grammatical errors in complex forms, and/or may include a more limited vocabulary range. A number of spelling and/or punctuation errors.	A range of contextually appropriate vocabulary and few, if any, grammatical errors. Very few spelling or punctuation errors.	A wide range of contextually appropriate vocabulary and no grammatical errors. No spelling or punctuation errors.	8/10

Comments:

Hello,

I thought your blog was really well written, great use of the reflective writing style. I found the article you provided on cyber-bullying prevention to be very interesting and relevant to your topic. When referencing Ted Talks during the digital divide topic I noticed you have just put in the web link, not 100 per cent sure but you may have to add the date you viewed the site and the year it was published? Also just wanted to remind you that when you are creating a reference list the title needs to be in italics so I would double check the APA referencing guide on Curtin Uni website (just in case I am wrong as referencing isn't my strongest skill). I loved your time-audit in topic 3, it made me laugh as I have the same issues. It was easy to navigate through your blog via clicking on the calendar on the side and I really enjoyed playing your game on Sploder! Also, I just wanted to point out that there were not many visuals within your blog, so you may want to think about adding some relevant pictures or potentially some audio or video. We must remember that the great thing about using technology such as this is that we can make it interactive and visually stimulating for our readers. I could not find your lesson plan, however I am sure you will add before the due date. I thought your blog was really great; it inspired me to go back through mine and change my 'robotic' writing style into a more reflective writing style much like yours. Goodluck!

Total: 41 /50