

Peer Marking: Blog

Name of Blog: Adrian Verrier

Name of marker: Siarah UI-Haq

	Evidence of minimal/incomplete awareness and engagement Grade: F	Some evidence of awareness, understanding and engagement with concepts, skills, and dispositions Grade: P	Sound evidence of awareness, understanding and engagement with concepts, skills, and dispositions Grade: C	Consistent, comprehensive and wide-ranging evidence of awareness, understanding and engagement with concepts, skills, and dispositions Grade: D	Exemplary awareness, understanding and engagement with concepts, skills, and dispositions, which is generally well above expectations Grade: HD
Content
Content and ideas: Blog entries; teaching episode; written response to peer feedback; creativity and design	Provides an unclear and incoherent response to the tasks. Some content may be missing. No evidence of attention to design.	Response to the tasks is sometimes clear, although it may lack focus in some areas. Design has clarity and some evidence of planning.	Provides a mostly clear and thoughtful response to the question, although it may lack focus in some tasks. Design is reasonably effective and demonstrates some attempts at creativity.	Provides a clear, thoughtful and mostly focused response to the tasks. Design is professional and has some creative elements. Visuals or other media are included.	Provides a coherent, focused and thoughtful response to all tasks. Design is effective, professional and innovative. A range of visuals or other media are well-used.	24/30
Presentation
Organisation and coherence	Lacks overall organisation, thematic unity and coherence in and/or between sentences.	May lack overall organisation, but develops ideas coherently. Sentences may be limited in type or inappropriately connected.	An overall logic and coherence, and a range of sentence types which are usually appropriately connected.	Logically organised, ideas coherent and a range of appropriately connected sentence types.	Logically organised, unity of theme and ideas coherent through a range of appropriately connected sentence types.	8/10
Grammar and accuracy (including spelling and punctuation)	Many grammatical errors and/or use of a limited vocabulary, which may include inappropriate usage. Numerous spelling and/or punctuation errors.	Some grammatical errors and/or use of a limited vocabulary which may include inappropriate usage. Several spelling and/or punctuation errors.	Some grammatical errors in complex forms, and/or may include a more limited vocabulary range. A number of spelling and/or punctuation errors.	A range of contextually appropriate vocabulary and few, if any, grammatical errors. Very few spelling or punctuation errors.	A wide range of contextually appropriate vocabulary and no grammatical errors. No spelling or punctuation errors.	9/10
Comments: Hi Adrian. I really enjoyed reading through your blog and could see that you had a strong grasp of the topics covered. I really enjoyed your Sploder game and found myself playing again and again. Your ideas and reflections were well thought out and read well. The graph in your digital fluency blog post about use of image was an excellent resource. I enjoyed reading your ideas on ways to integrate technology in the classroom and the types of learning technology can support. There were no grammatical errors and a wide range of appropriate language throughout your blog. I also found no fault with your references. In order to receive higher marks, I advise you to try to add more visual media into your blog such as images, videos and audio recording as this would make your blog more visually appealing and creative. I also couldn't find the link to your Pinterest account, something I was really looking forward to. I would also advise you to label your headings with 'Week One' and 'Week Two' etc. so readers are able to clearly see which topic you are going to be covering in the blog post. Overall, I found your blog to be one of high quality with thoughtful insight into the topics covered in this unit and showed that you are aware of your responsibilities as a teacher in regards to technology integration and have the knowledge to implement such ideas in the classroom. I really enjoyed your blog! Well done! I wish you well in this assessment!

Total: 41 /50